Big Oaks Conservation Society - Helping to conserve wildlife and their habitats as partner of Big Oaks National Wildlife Refuge.

For the past two decades, Big Oaks Conservation Society has been dedicated to the development of connections between nature and our communities. Our members make these connections possible. As a member, you can help cultivate those connections more deeply.

As a member, you will...

- Be invited to attend special events.
- Receive updates on refuge news and events.
- Receive discounts on BOCS merchandise.
- Help support Indiana's largest National Wildlife Refuge, a globally important bird area.
- Support youth education programs.
- Be able to volunteer to support the refuge's conservation efforts.

BOCS is a non-profit friends group of the Big Oaks National Wildlife Refuge. We work closely with the refuge in their efforts to educate and support visitors about its wildlife and natural habitats. We support the goals of wildlife conservation and habitat restoration at the refuge to enhance awareness of the refuge through education and public-use of its facilities.
